at York University, with the support of the CENTRE FOR JEWISH STUDIES

is pleased to present:

Professor Martin Goodman
Oriental Institute, University of Oxford

“Rome and Jerusalem: the Clash
of Ancient Civilizations”

Wednesday, Nov. 21, 2007, 4:30–6:30 p.m.
The Renaissance, 001 Vanier College (basement level)
light kosher refreshments, with Q and A Professor Goodman’s extensive scholarship on the eastern Roman empire, its Jewish communities, and Roman Judaea is field-defining and world-renowned. His books include State and Society in Roman Galilee, AD 132-212 (1983), The Ruling Class of Judaea: the Origins of the Jewish Revolt against Rome (1993), Mission and Conversion (1994), and The Roman World, 44 BC - AD 180 (1997). In this public lecture he will present themes from his new and celebrated book, Rome and Jerusalem (2007).
