

Gender, Feminist and Women's Studies PhD

Founded 1991, the Gender, Feminist and Women's Studies (GFWS) program is one of the largest Gender Studies programs in the world. One of our primary goals is to develop and apply a feminist analytical perspective to teaching and research on women and gender as they intersect with sexuality, race, ethnicity, class, ability and age. The program is interdisciplinary – drawing widely from the humanities, social sciences, environmental studies, fine arts, education and law.
