Information Systems & Technology

MAIST

The Master of Arts in Information Systems & Technology (MAIST) is an innovative graduate program dedicated to the study of Information Technologies and their application to solving business and societal problems. The MAIST program explores various ways in which the integration and customization of new and existing technologies can meet the needs of a wide gamut of users. The fostering of creativity and productivity across a variety of sectors is a major aim of the program.

Program Highlights

- The program is designed for both working professionals and research-oriented students
- A major feature of the program is its flexibility and the option for students to choose courses from other programs that complement our IT courses.
- A MAIST degree will prepare you for employment in a broad range of sectors such as the not-for-profit and public sectors, including health and education, and the private sectors including business, industry and information technology.
