

Modelling Fair at York University

November 15, 2024 Vari Hall, York

Are you using models or computer simulations in your research or teaching?

Don't miss the chance to present your work at the Modelling Fair and engage with the broader York University community!

This event offers a platform for York University researchers to showcase their projects through posters and tables, participate in discussions, and network with colleagues who share an interest in modelling.

Please register by November 1, 2024, by completing the REGISTRATION FORM
